

Environmental Responsibility Statement

The world is facing interconnected environmental crises, with rising global temperatures, biodiversity loss, and pollution accelerating at an alarming rate and without urgent action, we risk surpassing critical climate thresholds. The art world contributes significantly to this crisis through international travel, art shipping, and high energy consumption.

As arts organizations, we have both a responsibility and an opportunity to lead by example, using our platforms to drive positive change.

We at ArtToSaveLives Contemporary are dedicated to raising environmental awareness through thought-provoking exhibitions and programming. Our mission extends beyond art, encompassing animal rescue efforts and supporting artists who highlight climate and environmental issues. Our commitment to these issues has earned us being dubbed “The Environmental Gallery” among our peers in the field, reinforcing our sustainability-driven initiatives.

To uphold our values, we must take immediate action to reduce our ecological footprint. By identifying key sustainability challenges in logistics and daily operations, we have begun monitoring our carbon emissions and seeking ways to minimize our impact. We recently applied for Active Membership with the Gallery Climate Coalition (GCC) and will continue tracking our footprint using the GCC calculator. Additionally, we have appointed a Green Ambassador to lead discussions and implement sustainable initiatives. Through these efforts, we strive to create a more sustainable art world while advocating for broader environmental change. We recognize that this is an ongoing learning process and have much to improve. While we’ve set targets and taken action, we understand that more work is needed to create a lasting impact.

All our love,

ArtToSaveLives Contemporary Team
